

Why loan a refrigerated truck?

For busy refrigerated road transport operators, having a truck off the road for any period of time is not only a headache, it is a cost few can afford.

CustomAir understands the importance of meeting busy schedules, that's why we offer our transport clients a range of refrigerated loan vehicles to keep the orders moving while your truck's refrigeration unit is being serviced or repaired by us.

All of our trucks feature our own style of insulated body that excels in extremely high thermo-dynamic qualities, while keeping to a low weight, allowing for greater payload with reduced fuel consumption.

Because we design and manufacture our own refrigeration units specifically for Australian operating conditions, our systems are not only highly reliable and efficient, they also feature a microprocessor controller that allows for a temperature range from chiller to freezer.

Regular service of transport refrigeration equipment is essential to reduce the risk of breakdown and to keep your unit in top shape. CustomAir's loan truck option gives you added security and peace of mind, while ensuring there will be no interruption to your daily routine.

Loan or hire periods

Loan/rental trucks are available from one day to long-term if necessary via prior arrangement.

Vehicle types

We will initially have available 1 tonne, 3 pallet and 6 pallet trucks. Our fleet will continually grow in size and variety of vehicles with the objective of catering to all our customer's needs.

Why public rentals?

Apart from transport operators, our vehicles are also available for hire to the general public. Being able to run on mains electricity makes these units ideal mobile refrigerators for large parties and functions, or as a temporary replacement in the case of a breakdown of stationary refrigeration equipment.
